Sit down to dinner with Virginia Willis and you are bound to hear: "Bon Appétit, Y'all." The saying is quintessentially Southern, quintessentially French, and quintessentially Virginia. It is also the title of her critically acclaimed cookbook nominated by the IACP for Best American cookbook of 2008.

Cook, teacher, author, spokesperson, and culinary television producer, Virginia honed her attention to detail as the Kitchen Director for Martha Stewart Living Television where she supervised the food segments for the Emmy-award winning television show and prepared private meals and events for Martha and her guests, including President Clinton, Aretha Franklin, and Julia Child.
